It is with these qualifications he has held this office successfully and to the satisfaction of the public and plans to continue serving in this manner. With such experience and knowledge he is thoroughly equipped to continue serving the people of Hancock county and, in announcing his candidacy, he not only thanks the people of Hancock county for their support and confidence, but asks that he may continue to serve them in the future as in the past.

He asks for his candidacy the consideration of the voters and public in general, soliciting the favor of every lady and gentleman. In return he promises Courteous, Efficient Service.

Otho Rester, candidate for representative to the legislature from Hancock county, was a visitor to the county seat and courthouse Thursday and reports his candidacy is meeting with much encouragement. He is making an active canvass as his time from his work will permit.

EDUCATIONAL CAR TO VISIT BAY SAINT LOUIS NEXT WEEK

"World Wonder Car" Exhibits 1001 Curious Things; Wednesday April 10

An opportunity to see the largest travelling museum in the world will be given the people of Bay St. Louis. When the World Wonder Car, a bus 52 feet 6 inches long, under the supervision of the famous Greyhound Lines stages an exhibit in this city.

The car was christened by Dr. Chas. G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., and has nine government displays and exhibits from approximately every country, interestingly arranged in glass cases within the car.

The exhibits were collected and arranged by John D. Lippy, Jr., of Washington, for the purpose of promoting visual education throughout the country and carries the endorsement of the Department of Education.

According to the manager of the large car, an educational tour of all the schools in the United States is planned, the estimated time required being about six years.

The car will be open for public inspection while here at Beach Drug Store, S. Beach Blvd., Wednesday, April 10—One day only from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Among the educational exhibits are authentic Lincoln relics, World War relics, all kinds of curious coins, stamps from all over the world, a sea exhibit, including a large Octopus, in addition to curios from China, Japan, Australia, Africa, Arabia, the Holy Land, Philippines, and Haiti. Perhaps the most interesting and amusing are the dressed fleas from Mexico.

A photostatic copy of the Declaration of Independence with letters from five of the early presidents, together with the smallest book ever printed in this country, being government loaned, are some of the outstanding items of a most interesting educational exhibit ever presented to the public and schools of the country. It is specially urged that all school children avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the big museum car while here.

A reinforced concrete retaining wall was built outside the front edge of the building, a solid "fill" placed on the top surfaced with a finished cement topping. This splendid and substantial work is of fine and lasting quality, Mr. Driver executing his well-known character of work.

Leaving here last Friday and returning home Monday night, the following-named party enjoyed a trip to Natchez for "Garden Week," namely, Mrs. (Dr.) A. A. Kergosien, Miss Clara Kergosien, Mrs. Judith Mauffray Garner, Miss Elsie Mauffray, Miss Daisy Bordages. A SURPRISE
Income tax payments are running well ahead of last year, which is no surprise, but it may be new that treasury receipts for the first eight months of the present fiscal year are $72,000,000 more than the same eight months in the last boom year.

John L. Heiss, resident attorney Bay St. Louis, is formally announced in this issue of Sea Coast Echo as a candidate for the responsible office of county prosecuting attorney, and, as he states, is free from any and all factions that may exist, he solicits the support and vote of the majority of the voting public.

"In offering myself as a candidate for the office of County Prosecuting Attorney," says Mr. Heiss, "I have a full realization of the importance of this most important office and I feel that I have the qualifications the people of this county want and need in such an officer."

"I believe that it is the duty of the County Prosecuting Attorney to investigate fully matters brought to his official attention and to present the proper matters fully to the grand jury without any request on his part either for or against an indictment, and to, when the time arrives, prosecute as provided by law and to the very best of his ability. That in the administration of his office the County Prosecuting Attorney should know no individual, no matter how powerful or rich such individual or his relatives may be."

"I believe that the County Prosecuting Attorney should prosecute in person where the law requires that he prosecute."

"I believe that the people of this county should, once again, be able to feel that their persons and property are safe from the ravages of strangers and local vandals, and I consider that the County Prosecuting Attorney is in large measure responsible if the people have not the feeling of safety."

"I am running independently of all factions."

John L. Heiss, Jr., is a native of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, born and reared in Gulfport, and is 29 years old.

He graduated from the Gulfport High School, studied law and received L. B. degree at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1928. He passed the State bar examination in the summer of 1928 and was admitted to practice by Judge V. A. Griffith on the 24th day of September, 1928.

He is a son of John L. Heiss, who is and has been for years city attorney of Gulfport and U. S. Referee in Bankruptcy, and with whom as an associate he has practiced law, practicing in all State courts and in the Federal District Court.

Mr. Heiss is well and favorably known along the Gulf Coast and his ability is well known. He is young and energetic and particularly fitted for the discharge of the duties of the office to which he aspires. He is entering upon his campaign in a vigorous and extensive campaign and hopes in time to see one and all the voters as far as humanly possible. He plans to attend every rally and to address the voters. He solicits the support and vote of one and all and in return, he says, the judgment of the voters will not be amiss for he plans to attend to the duties of the office to which he aspires with full time and in that manner that is best for the community.

He solicits your consideration.

Mrs. L. Jacobs to Be Principal Speaker At P-T. A. Meeting, 9th.

The Bay Central P. T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting at the school, Tuesday, April 9th at 3 p. m. Mrs. L. Jacobs will be the speaker for the afternoon. Her subject will be the "Molding of Character Through Right Habits."

Mrs. Robert Mitchell will read the President's Message.

The hostesses for the social hour will be Mrs. Eugene Davis, Mrs. Gordon Boswell and Miss Gertrude Perkins.

The many who attended the picnic at Catahoula school Tuesday are loud in their praises of the manner in which the community folks received one and all alike, giving plenty and expecting nothing. Prof. Clayton Stewart, principal, and assistants are to be congratulated for the splendid program and the manner in which the affair was managed. No charge for refreshment was asked, nothing from the many candidates that had congregated. However, voluntary contributions were accepted small ones and no one's purse was hurt.

YOUNG DEPUTY IN CLERK'S OFFICE TO GO TO STATE CAPITAL

Warren Carver Accepts Position In Office With State Auditor—Served Here Six Years

Warren Carver, deputy clerk to Clerk of the Courts A. G. Favre will leave Bay St. Louis for Jackson and assume his new post of trust at that city on Monday, April 8. His duties will be in the office of the State Accounting Department, receiving the appointment recently.

Warren has been working in the office of the county clerk the past six years, after graduating from St. Stanislaus College. He at once applied himself diligently and successfully in the performance of the various and exacting duties of this important office at the courthouse, and in time became a recognized deputy and has served Mr. Favre to that extent that it is with reluctance he will bid him God speed and adieu.

He has applied himself without regard to the clock or amount of work to be done. He has served his employer loyally and efficiently and in return it is through the influence of his employer that he has secured this position at the State Capital that will prove a stepping stone for this young man.

He has been improving himself in the little spare time he could call his own. Particularly at night he has spent much of his time in taking a correspondence course in accounting. Finishing this it has served him in good stead in addition to the training he received in the clerk's office. Mr. Favre speaks very highly of this young native Bay St. Louisian. He says he has worked hard—the price of success; that he is entitled to the good things that have come his way and that he knows he will make good and continue in the ascendancy.

The vacancy caused by Mr. Carver's resignation is filled by Emile Larue, of Bay St. Louis, son of the late James Larue and wife. He is a graduate of L. S. U. and not only capable but a painstaking and industrious young man and one who bids fair to make good.

ADDITIONAL CITY ECHOES

Judging from the press room of The Sea Coast Echo's printing department county candidates are getting ready in earnest for an active campaign. Several thousands candidates' cards have poured from the job presses. And it looks as if another busy week is in store for the home printers. The hesitant candidate is generally the losing one.

Wednesday for an extensive trip on professional business that will extend from the interior of points in Florida through to Washington, D. C. and over to Baltimore and Philadelphia before returning home about three weeks hence. Mr. Gex is making the trip of many stops in his big new car, a Chrysler.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Richards and family, accompanied by a party of friends, came out from New Orleans last Friday evening and journeyed to Mobile Sunday to visit the azalea trail. Several other cars from this section were noted in the motorcade. Bay St. Louis was well represented in the Azalea City last Sunday.

With the advent of spring and summer only in the offing the end of school days for the present semester is at hand and it will not be long after that the first primary election for Hancock county will be at hand, some one remarks. A quarter of the new year is gone and we have entered on run for the end of the first half. How time flies is an expression that seemingly always holds good.

Bay St. Louis Rotary Club at The Answer held another of its successful and interesting supper-meetings, with President Arthur A. Seafide in the chair. The Club will elect its officers next Tuesday night for the tenth year of its existence. This local civic organization has had a long and active existence and with a new added membership bids fair to continue its long and useful career.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Arnold, Mrs. J. J. Martin, Mr. Vincent, Lagrove Arnold and Miss Jacqueline Thompson, who is Mr. Arnold's granddaughter, who is down from Jamaica New York, all motored along the Coast and also up the Magnolia Highway, U. S. No. 49, Sunday to view the peach orchard in full bloom, at Saucier, an orchard owned by the I. C. Railroad with 9000 trees. They say it was a most gorgeous sight to see, also the beautiful, wild, Dogwood trees in blossom. Lyman and Saucier are noted for their peach and dogwood blossoms like Mobile is for its Azalias, and the Coast for its Wisterias.

MISSISSIPPI HIGHWAY DEPT. PLANS EARLY PAVING OF SHORT CUT

As Its Share—Will Meet Louisiana With Hard-Surfaced Road, Says State Director Kenna—Will Be Ready In Time to Meet Louisiana's Shortcut When Finished

Mississippi's end of the Gulf Coast "short-cut" highway will be paved by the time the Louisiana portion is hard-surfaced, E. D. Kenna, state director of the Mississippi highway department, declared Tuesday at Jackson, according to John R. Hudson, resident correspondent of the N. O. Times-Picayune.

The Louisiana contract for hard-surfacing its section of the "short-cut" was awarded last week, but Director Kenna says he has been advised that the Louisiana project cannot be completed within less than five or six months.

"Please assure them that our short cut will be paved by the time theirs is," he said. "We are mighty glad Louisiana has let its contract, and we will be there to meet them."

Three surveys have been made on the Mississippi side of Pearl River and the definite route to be followed is yet to be finally agreed upon by the Mississippi highway department and officials of the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture.

Director Kenna, however, said that "we have practically agreed" on the "intermediate" route. This route is about eight miles long, from the bridge end to the proposed connection with United States Highway No. 90, the Old Spanish Trail, now surface-treated. There is only about two miles difference between the length of the shortest survey and the longest survey, one of which passes through Devil's swamp.

J. Roland Weston, of Logtown, and well-known over Hancock county, is announced in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo as candidate for representative from Hancock county to the State Legislature, and asks for his candidacy the consideration of the voters.

Born in New Orleans, aged 36 years. He is a son of the late John H. Weston and Mrs. Weston, and moved with his parents to Hancock county when he was 2 years old. He has lived here since with the exception of that period from April, 1924, to October, 1930, during which time he resided in Portland, Oregon.

He received his early education at the Grammar Grade School at Logtown and subsequently graduated from High in 1915 and later spent three years at Tulane University studying civil engineering. The World War breaking out he served in the army in 1918. In the fall of 1919 he went to the University of Washington at Seattle, Washington, and graduated in forestry in 1921.

"I propose, if elected," says Mr. Weston, to strive for a number of accomplishments which, I believe, will be of the greatest benefit to our citizens."

Among these are to assist children to procure school books.

There are ample school facilities and the best of teachers but too many children have no means of procuring books. He would assist to make it or old age pensions, realizing this would mean helping humanity, and he also would abolish the paying of a poll tax.

He would work for a more profitable use of the land in Hancock county so greater gain would result for our people.

He would also exempt homesteads from State taxes up to $3,000 assessment.

His vast experience in the timber and lumber business, his experience in the forestry work and kindred interests makes him a valuable man for the betterment of conditions as regards our vast areas of land in Hancock. This is our chief asset and since its decline something must be done. Surely there is a remedy and it may be accomplished by constructive legislation. Lands sold for taxes put back on the assessment rolls and made to pay owners a living return is another hope Mr. Weston plans.

"I have lived in this county," he says, "most of my life and I believe by training, experience and personal contact I am qualified to know what our voters need and wish. If elected, I pledge myself to give each and every person my personal attention and undivided time."

Will Act at Once, Kenna Writes Quinlan

SEEK A PLACE FOR THIS SUMMER

LOCAL real estate representatives tell us already there is an active demand for property by prospective summer visitors; people from New Orleans and elsewhere are seeking locations and there are quite a number of places rented. This however, must not be construed by outside readers of the newspaper, that there are no houses left to meet the demand. On the contrary, it is said many may be accommodated and that rentals are reasonable, but it is always wise to make early selections. One in this wise gets the pick.

Bay St. Louis has lost none of its charms as a summer resort. The truth is there are more advantages than ever. Of late years we have built magnificent stretches of roads that will take the automobile anywhere, bridges have spanned heretofore impassable chasms that made crossing impossible; one may go wherever the desire may impel. There is no limit, no restrictions. Distance has been annihilated by veritable ribbons of miles and miles of perfect roadways.

The lure "to go" will be satisfied here. Our gulf breezes, salt water bathing and all that go with the call to the seashore is found here. Fine beaches, wide and hard-bottomed await the pleasure of the swimmer or bather.

Our proximity to New Orleans is the big advertisement. It will bring many here and it is not astonishing that already the seeker for a place to spend summer is either already here or looking towards this direction.

The moral is: To see your real estate agent today. Or, write a letter. Bay-Waveland invites you to summer along the seashores. It means not only recreation, relaxation, pleasure or whatnot, but that very potential asset to man—health.

OUR COUNTY POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

IT IS gratifying to note the campaign in Hancock county for the elections this August has opened on a high and friendly plane and it is easy to foresee that as such it will continue until the last ballot will have been counted on the night of August 6.

Our campaigns have always been pitched on a high plane but always with that spirit of friendliness and fairness that renders such a period of time frequently in other places an ordeal that the public dreads. Our people are friendly they enjoy one another's favor. They have lived here for generations side by side each observing the even tenor of their way. And surely it is not a little political campaign that is going to cause the slightest untoward incident to even cause a rift.

The day of acrimonious campaigns are past. People have reached a stage of intelligence and common sense that directs their feelings and spirit to the better way. And it is well that it is that way. It is an evidence that a better day among fellowmen has dawned. Each candidate for himself, running on his own individual merit and always in fairness to one's self as well as to the other fellow. The golden rule is always in order.

THE SOLDIERS' BONUS

THE soldiers' bonus hangs in the balance. The payment of it is looked at variously and from different points of view. A good many individuals have conflicting view points. Everyone feels that the veterans should have their due. Nobody wants higher taxes. The legislators wish to satisfy and be just toward those who have carried arms, but hesitate to increase the burden of the taxpayer. The soldiers naturally enough will be glad to get the cash. Who would not? It is said that many warriors now in relief camps will vacate them and go home if the bonus is paid, and in that way they will be restored to a normal manner of living. That in itself will be a good thing. It would be fine if Europe could be persuaded to assume the payment of the bonus, to apply on the war debts. One might as well wish for a piece of the moon, but after all, it was Europe who profited by the war out of which the bonus problem arose.

CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

IT is not necessary to work one's way thoughtfully through long columns of newspaper matter, or to study and analyze the history of the past twenty years in order to acquire a fairly accurate general understanding of conditions in Europe. A rapid sweep of the eye over the material that is coming across the water discloses words which, even divorced from the context, indicate what is going on. The list comprises such terms as conscription, rate, disorder, mob, demand, protest, reinforce, intervention and denounce. There are millions of shoulders in Europe, but it looks as though the mills of state craft and diplomacy were preparing chips enough so that no shoulder need be bare. Unfortunately, the chip on the shoulder very often is replaced in short order by a heavier burden.

The subscribers who pay their subscriptions to the Sea Coast Echo on time are the salt of the publication.

THE SHORT-CUT ABOUT AT HAND

FROM latest press dispatches emanating from Jackson and Baton Rouge, as well as New Orleans, it is evident and conclusive work will immediately be started on surfacing the Short-cut route from New Orleans to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Louisiana highway department let the contract for hardsurfing the "cut" as it runs through Louisiana and Mississippi Highway Department tells Louisiana authorities its share of hardsurfing the Mississippi link (through Hancock county) will be finished in ample time to connect with the approach from the west.

We have so long waited and ardently wished for the realization of this well-nigh a dream that to note its accomplishment is at hand is hard to realize. However, it appears the shortcut through two States and open to traffic will become a reality sooner than anticipated and surely this will be good news to the public.

Just what benefit a closer and shorter route to New Orleans will prove to this section cannot exactly be estimated. Some, and they are few, are of the opinion, it will prove a detriment to "trade at home" doctrine and much of the local trade will be carried to New Orleans. But this, as it may or may not be, would be of small consequence and more than outweighed by the preponderant increase in visitors and others who would come hither frequently and in larger numbers than at present.

We for one welcome the Shortcut. It spells for economy both in time and actual cost of transportation, to say nothing of wear and tear. This section is open to the world. It is a great resort, for health and pleasure. We want the gates opened wider and the way shorter. Hundreds of thousands, possibly more, who do not travel this way as frequently as they might, will come in unlimited numbers.

MANY WILL JOURNEY HITHER THIS SUMMER

THERE is a general belief, and it seems to be founded, that the coming summer season on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, particularly the Bay-Waveland section, will enjoy a season of prosperity without precedent. Just what these calculations are based upon and where this expectancy originates is not definitely known unless it be a kind of father to the wish.

However, with a marked improvement in conditions and the inclination of people these days to assume an attitude of wishing to shake off the bounds and shackles of depression it does appear with a better morale prevailing and changing of conditions, even though they be limited, people in general will want a change and that will be to go places, to do things, to enjoy such things as may be seasonable for summer and forget the past.

We are prone to live and enjoy life. That is one's birthright. It is normal to live, to be well to be friendly and to look at the world through roseate glasses. It has thus been decreed. Mother Nature intended nothing else. Happiness is guaranteed if one goes after it.

The surge in one's blood is to go. And with a shade of better conditions it is reasonable to assume this summer will witness many visitors to these parts. The Gulf Coast and particularly Bay St. Louis and vicinity are favorites of New Orleans' people. For a short trip one can get no greater change from the city. Here the broad expanse of the open sea is inviting, the climate, water, the lure of the open road are all elements that conspire to conjure; they are intriguing influences that one cannot very well withstand and as spring progresses and the process of the summer season develops we may well see a heavy influx of visitors and season residents.

"WE KNOW NOBODY"

THERE may be a number of citizens of Bay St. Louis who have a habit of yearning to dwell in larger metropolises. Like other human beings they are intrigued with what they read of the large cities and believe that life in apartments, surrounded by theatres and skyscrapers, would be the utmost pleasure.

For their benefit let us offer the testimony of a man who lived, and still lives in such a place. He has a nice suite in a large apartment where men of good positions, live. Recently, in talking about his "home," he said:

"We have lived here two years and know nobody. My wife was very sick for two months. The people who live upstairs did not even know it."

Now, if that is your idea of a good place to live, and if you prefer existence of that type to the neighborly interest that is taken in you and yours in Bay St. Louis then the best thing for you to do is to buy a railroad ticket today, and get out as quickly as you can. The so-called small town offers the family the best possible dwelling place, and the reason why the small towns will continue is because most families know this.

DUST AND DROUGHT

THE dust storms, recently reported sweeping a number of States, seem to be indicated in future unless there is plentiful rains or else a protective cover grown over the lands that so easily yield their soil.

Many believe that the trouble originated when, in the days when wheat prices were soaring due to the results of warfare, men went into the high semi-arid country in sections of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Kansas and, in order to raise wheat, plowed up the sod for dry farming.

This is the opinion of William Allen White, who thinks the trouble will persist as long as the dry cycle, now in its third year, remains unbroken. At present, the prospect is for a dry summer for the high, dry plains just under the Rockies, as well as the Western prairies and a threat, at least, of another drought-suffering summer.

There are advantages in Bay St. Louis that exist nowhere else in the world for you.

WITH THE PRESS

O. O. McINTYRE

(Neshoba, Miss., Democrat)

O. O. McIntyre is probably one of the most widely-known of New York columnists.

And because he is such, and because he is a writer for hundreds of big daily papers throughout the nation, we can not but feel proud of the following recent tribute by him to the "country newspaper."

Here it is: "Much of the very stuff written in American newspapers reaches only a limited audience. This is because it is turned out for country weeklies and small town dailies. It is a pity that more of it is not syndicated."

"There are very few smart alec writers or exploiters of the personal pronoun among them. They write deeply, if impersonally, of the things they feel. They are interested and believe in the triumph of right, the church, and dignity of good citizenship."

They run clean as the wind of their native hills or the waters of their local streams. I commend to any newspaper reader fed up with shocking crimes, blackmail, lawsuits and Hauptmann trials a careful perusal of their home town paper.

"Many of the homely little personals may offer a comic touch, but no more so than a city society scribbler's rave that the debutante Miss Gwendolyn Smith-Park is singing hotcha songs in a decadent night club. Or that Lovely Lacey of the chorus walked a baby lamb up the avenue on a platinum leash."

"There may be editorials, too, that are not attuned to high speed life in cities, but they are restful after the headline splash, I quote from an exchange weekly in Arkansas:

"These are nights the hill people remember after the shut-in days of winter. It is quite near the heavenly to lean back in the favorite porch chair and watch the shifting clouds so gently putting a splendorous sun to rest. The even song of birds must be almost as beautiful as the great Old World cathedral choirs we have read about. There is a promise in the air and a glint of something better in the sheen of the dew. On nights such as these the corn cob has a more fragrant whiff, the trees seem in gentler murmur and those of us whose consciences are clean feel just a bit nearer to God."

"In New York that would likely be called 'hokum.' But now and then I would rather fall for such 'hokum' than the rantings of Huey Long, the delights of a Reno divorce or the doings of cocktail crowds. Sometimes one has to turn to those country weeklies and small town dailies to find there is still a strain of sanity in the land."

ARTHUR BRISBANE SAYS THERE IS HOPE FOR REAL ESTATE.

(Clarion-Ledger)

ON the question of real estate values, Arthur Brisbane, whose literary and journalistic activities are so diversified, is an incurable optimist. While he lives, breathes and pounds a typewriter, the earth's broad acres will have an enthusiastic and unflinching champion. "In good times and bad, in doubtful times and boom times, there is just one real wealth, and that is well selected real estate," Mr. Brisbane says. "Real estate has its troubles. Dishonest politicians overtax it. It suffers when business, depressed, cannot pay their rent. But for those who know how to select it, and are able to hold it, good real estate is the best investment. There are only four corners of Broad and Wall Street four corners of 57th Street and Park Avenue, and there will never be any more."

The average owner of property will consider Mr. Brisbane's views as somewhat more roseate than circumstances justify. In few instances today is in possession of real estate a source of comfort or financial aid to the owner. On the contrary, it is, in the expressive language of the day, a headache.

But Mr. Brisbane's beliefs nevertheless enjoy the support of a rich background of tradition. Some of the greatest fortunes in the United States have had judicious real estate investment as their basis and there is a wealth of economic history to sustain the hope that it will eventually come into its own.

BETTER GO SLOW.

(Morehouse, (La.) Enterprise)

CONSIDERABLE attention is being drawn to the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, a measure introduced simultaneously in both houses of Congress by Senator Wheeler and Representative Rayburn. The widely published intent of the measure appears to be the elimination of the evils of the holding companies. With this feature of the measure the public is in entire sympathy—that is if it were made to apply to all holding companies. However, the bill in question hits only the electric and gas utilities. The bill not only proposes the destruction of the holding companies of these utilities, but goes much further, and in the final analysis seems to mean government control of all electric and gas operating companies by placing the electric companies under the Federal Trade Commission. The control of the individual states of the utilities operating within their borders will

MOBILE, "AZALEA CITY," ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS

City is Mecca For Lovers of The Beautiful—Private Gardens Open To Public

Mobile was apparently the Mecca for thousands of visitors last Sunday, traveling the famous Azalea Trail. It was said the hotels turned people away for lack of accommodations. While many from the Gulf Coast and elsewhere visited for the day, larger groups came from distant points to spend the week-end to travel the trail and to enjoy the charm and quaintness of Old Mobile on Mobile Bay.

Azaleas were at their peak of perfection last Sunday. The early bloomers along Government street had already spent their prime beauty and showed signs of waning, but out Spring Hill and in the various outlying sections the blossoms were at their best. A visit to Mobile during the azalea season is never complete without a trip to Springhill College. Here are found a number of the oldest bushes, large and laden with the blossom of radiant color that seemingly has life-like animation and ready to speak.

Dr. Henderson's place beyond Springhill, at the end of the carline is always a place of attraction. Here the old-fashioned home is set back in the yard about three hundred feet or more from the garden entrance. The wide walk to the house presents a veritable vista of color, azalea bushes possibly a century old, or night that, flank both sides and millions of blossoms (all one shade) present a blaze of glory.

The Field residence nearby is always an outstanding attraction. Mrs. Field lives in the old homestead with her daughter and family. The azaleas here have outgrown their places. The entrance by way of front gate is overgrown and one has to crawl, so to speak, to enter. It is a rare sight and one voluntarily drops a silver offering as he or she leaves, well repaid for the visit.

The Blackshear place (private) on Government street is always open to the public. Mr. Blackshear, capitalist, banker and lumberman, owned this immense corner lot, running from Government street back to the rear streetway, approximately a thousand feet, and for years it has been his pet hobby to beautify it with a collection of azaleas, all kinds and color. One tree in particular is aflame with solid color. It attracts attention for reason of its size, symmetry and color. It is said to be nearly eighty years old. Mr. Blackshear paid $600.00 for it from its original owner over in Baldwin county (across Mobile Bay) and it cost him another six hundred to transport and plant it.

The Blackshear place is open to the public. It is the showplace of Mobile. The landscaping and green sward are examples of the landscaper's triumph. Mr. Blackshear recently passed away but his heirs will not doubt perpetuate his memory in maintaining the place however costly in taxes and upkeep it may be. The land is extremely valuable for the reason it is located on fashionable and exclusive Government street, the residential thoroughfare of Mobile's old aristocracy.

Visitors to Mobile should not fail to go out to Springhill and visit the Original Azalea Gardens, at the end of the car line and beyond the college, and ask for the charming and interesting proprietress and manager, Mrs. Lining, who knows all about azaleas, who grows thousands each year and who receives the public with a most cordial reception. Mrs. Lining received visitors with the same interest and attention whether they buy or not. She is an encyclopedia on the subject and tells how to best grow azaleas. There are many so-called gardens, but this is the original one. Every plant is rooted and propagated on the premises.

Is this all leading up indirectly to government ownership of public utilities? The government having already embarked in the power business on a large scale, it does not appear reasonable to believe that it would wreck the ten or twelve billion dollar industry of its competitors without making some recompense to the holders of the securities of these organizations. These investments represent the savings of people in all walks of life, together with the investments of life insurance companies, trust funds, etc., the loss of which would fall on those less able to bear it. That the electric and gas utilities can continue to operate successfully in the face of government competition, sustained by public money with the government making all the rules, is a remote possibility and means the ultimate taking over of these utilities to prevent another major business and financial disaster.

Past experience has not been a very strong recommendation of the government in business. The operation of the railroad, shipbuilding, etc., during the world war is not a pleasant memory. Then some of the alphabetical experiments the last year or so haven't lived up to expectations—let the reader pick his own particular pet peeve. Congress should go a little slow in the enactment of a measure which seems fraught with some very serious consequences.

Mobile has beautified its gardens with this particular plant of Japanese origin unmindful that the time would prove one of the city's most valuable assets.
The azalea is a thing of beauty even though it blossoms only a comparative short time. It might not be a joy forever but each recurrent season it serves as a feast to the eye and sense of appreciation for the beautiful and in that wise becomes a joy year after year.

With The Movies And Film Folks

IT MIGHT interest some film fans to know that "The Birth of a Nation," has passed its twentieth birthday. Since its official premiere at the Liberty Theatre in New York, it has grossed more than $18,000,000, permanently breaking all records. In the filming of this picture, D. W. Griffith used innovations that since have become a regular part of filmcraft.

The films are now out to glorify Department of Justice agents in their fights to run down criminals. Richard Arlen is being used by one large studio to portray and glorify the anti-crime work of such agents as Melvin Purvis, who trapped Dillinger. As a matter of fact, Purvis suddenly has become the inspiration for quite a number of pictures of this type.

Will Rogers has signed another contract with Fox, this time for two years, with probably, four films per year. He is paid a picture salary, reputed to be $100,000 and as most of his pictures are box office successes, it is to the studio's advantage to use him in as many as possible.

Quite a bit of comment has been aroused over the separation of the Laurel and Hardy comedy team when Hal Roach cancelled the contract of Stan Laurel, the sad faced member of the duo. They had been together for seven years.

Fred Stone is to return to Hollywood to appear in a film with Pauline Lord. His last work before the cameras was in 1918.

Only one of the outstanding actresses in the film colony fit in with the beauty standard selected by the beauticians as the "ideal" dimensions for a beautiful girl—Janet Gaynor, who is five feet one inch tall and weighs 100 pounds.

When Clark Gable went to Texas to attend the wedding of his stepdaughter, he was nearly mobbed by feminine fans who waited at an airport to see their film idol.

Claudette Colbert has returned to Hollywood after a vacation in New York. Her next picture for Columbia is "If You Could Only Cook," or some such title.

Metro plans the immediate production of Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities," with Jack Conway borrowed from Twentieth Century, in the leading role.

Frank McHugh has taken out a very strange insurance policy. Having discovered that he possessed the strangest, silliest, most contagious laugh in the world, he had it insured for $100,000.

The screen play for "The Barbary Coast," soon to be produced by Samuel Goldwyn is to be written by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur the author-producers.

Columbia has purchased two stories, "Atlanta Adventure," by Diana Bourbon, and "Two Sons," by Harrison Jacobs.

Having completed her role in "Becky Sharp," Miriam Jordan bundled up her adopted son, Michael, and took a plane for a vacation in New York. This picture was made entirely in Technicolor by Pioneer Pictures for release through RKO-Radio.

Grace Moore's latest film for Columbia has had its title changed to "Love Me Forever."

Eddie Cantor's next film will be based on a story by Clarence Budington Kelland and is now known as "Dreamland." Production is scheduled to start about June 1st.

MGM has given Rignold Owen a long term contract. He is to appear as Stepan in "Anna Karenina," Greta Garbo's next vehicle.

BENGAL LANCER FILM TAKES FOUR YEARS TO MAKE

Perhaps the most ambitious and costly spectacle that Hollywood has ever attempted, Paramount's "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," has at last been screened and comes to the A. & G. Theatre after four years of unremitting effort in its production.

Featuring Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing in the principal roles, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is a stirring, colorful and action-cramped story of the exploits and adventures of England's Colonial soldiers in India.

The author, Francis Yeats-Brown was himself an officer of the Lancers, while Achmed Abdullah, film adapter, and four British army officers serve as technical advisers during the production of the film. The story of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," is that of the extraordinary bravery, discipline and skill that has enabled a mere handful of English officers to hold sway over the teeming millions of India. Cooper is a captain of the 41st Bengal Lancers, commanded by Sir Guy Standing, when Sir Guy's son, played by Richard Cromwell, arrives as a new recruit.

Cooper and Tone, also an officer of the regiment, take over the training of the young lad, but, on a visit to an adjoining province, Cromwell becomes involved with a beautiful girl and is kidnapped by Mohammed Khan, a hostile leader, who hopes that his father will pursue him and thus lead the Lancers to disaster.

Cooper and Tone follow and are caught when they attempt to free Cromwell. Under torture, Cromwell discloses the whereabouts of a tremendous cargo of ammunition. Mohammed Khan captures the ammunition, brings it back to the fortress and prepares to lead a revolution against the British.

The Bengal Lancers ride on the fortress, prepared to face destruction, if it will stem the revolution until reinforcements can arrive. The needless sacrifice is prevented by Cooper, who, by a daring maneuver, singlehandedly destroys the fortress, effects the release of the prisoners, and saves the Bengal Lancers.

WAVELAND NEWS-NOTES

MRS. MAUD BOURGEOIS.
Waveland, Miss.

MRS. W. E. Burke of New Orleans has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Eugene Bourgeois.

Mr. John L. Carr and family were at their Coleman avenue home this past week end.

Mrs. A. T. Terry is making preparations for a trip to Havana, Cuba.

Miss Carrie Johnson and Miss Eloise Cole spent a few days with Mrs. Bert Castell at her home in St. Joseph street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Tricou came over for a few days, and of course the new baby was with them.

Mr. Emilio Cue and Mr. Bobey Moran made a trip to Meridian for a few days.

Through the training of Mrs. Boyd, Laura Ruhr, Ella Favre and Horace Ruhr were confirmed at Bay St. Louis at the Episcopal church by Bishop Bratton.

For the May Festival at Waveland School, Mrs. Schilling's room brought in $16.75. Of that amount Yvonne Henley brought in $7.50 in chances of five cents on a lace collar. She worked very hard to this end and had no assistance. Laura Ruhr and Yvonne Henley were chosen as maids, and Harold Zimmerman and Adrain Hava as dukes. Notice of the festival will be announced later.

The Waveland Sewing Class under the leadership of Mrs. E. J. Giering, Welfare Worker, will have a display of their work in the show windows of Mr. Mauffray's Store this week. Some of the dresses is volunteer work and the lace trimming is donated by these workers. The dainty little dresses are to be used for Communion, and this display will give you an insight to what the Waveland Class is doing.

Mrs. E. J. Giering gave out pay checks Tuesday morning, and made a distribution of fine sacks of rice, canned mutton stew and beef stew.

Mr. C. B. Mollere has just purchased a brand new Chevrolet three quarter ton pick up body delivery truck. Put this all together and it spells class.

A new monkey has been added to the zoo. A cute monkey with a cuter name. Jo Jo.

WAVELAND SCHOOL NOTES

FOR the past three weeks, the pupils of Waveland School have been staging a contest, in order to raise money for the P. T. A. The room that raised the most money has the privilege of selecting the queen for the May Festival, which will be held at Waveland School, early in May.

After the close of the contest, Monday morning, April 1st, the entire student body assembled in the auditorium for the purpose of announcing the successful room.

It was found that the third and fourth grade rooms were far ahead—having collected almost thirty-five dollars. Therefore, the queen will be selected from that room.

Miss Dorothy Wells, third grade and fourth grade teacher, wishes to thank everyone who helped in making her room successful.

The queen, king, maids and dukes have all been selected; however, their names will not be announced until a later date.

On Thursday afternoon, March 28, the third and fourth grades gave a "Silver Tea" at Waveland School to raise funds for the May Festival.

A short program was given and everyone spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

CONNER NOT TO OFFER CONSTITUTION ISSUE TO SPECIAL SESSION

No constitutional convention issue will face the Mississippi legislators when—and if—they are called into special session next month, Governor Conner indicated Saturday.

Only emergency measures and those requiring state co-operation with the federal government will be presented by him to the solons, who may consider only items submitted by him, the governor said.

Still noncommittal about the date of the proposed session, he said everything still depends on the future of the relief bill in Congress, where a conference report has been delayed until next week.

He will definitely not call the session until after the relief bill is enacted and new rulings promulgated, he repeated.

Since the constitutional convention issue could not be considered an emergency it was generally conceded that he does not intend to submit it to the solons. The issue was the basis of a split between Conner and anti-Conner forces in the last legislature and widened the breach between the governor and the State Highway Commission. The governor vetoed a bill which would have provided an $8,000,000 PWA loan for building state highways during the feud with the commission—Jackson Daily News.

Mississippi Highway Department Plans Early Surfacing of Short Cut

officials of that state, according to a letter received by New Orleans City Engineer Patrick H. Quinlan Tuesday from E. D. Kenna, director of the Mississippi state highway department, at Jackson, reports the Times-Picayune.

The city engineer in a recent letter to Mr. Kenna asked, "Inasmuch as the Louisiana Highway Commission is to surface treat the short-cut to the Mississippi line from the Rigollets to Pearlinton this spring, would it not be advisable to take similar measures on this highway between Pearlinton and the Old Spanish Trail?"

In answer to the query, Mr. Kenna wrote, "It is our purpose to have the connection from U. S. 90 to the bridge surfaced immediately."

—The Bogalusa Enterprise devotes considerable space in its last issue to a description and complimentary mention of the azaleas growing in the garden of Mrs. Frank M. Tarut of that city. Mrs. Tarut is a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Pauling Tarut of Bay St. Louis and is a frequent visitor here.

Personal and General

LOCAL RESIDENT IS UNUSUALLY SUCCESSFUL GERANIUM GROWER

Mr. N. Dick, residing in Carroll avenue, is the successful grower of one of the finest collections of growing geraniums we have yet seen hereabouts and there are many both here and in Waveland.

The plants are potted and are of varied variety as to color, one in particular variegated with the colors of pink, salmon, fuchsia, crimson, usual part of this particular collection of geraniums is the flowering element. One plant has 23 large and fully-matured blossoms, others 18 and all bear an equally approximate number. Mr. Dick is justly proud of his success, for someone has said that a garden, regardless of how many plants is no garden unless it has blooming flowers. And his success has not come by sheer luck. Like everything he does, he is painstaking and methodical and it is due to his daily and constant care the plants have so prolifically blossomed.

He has had various successes with vegetable and flower gardens but this is practically his first venture with geraniums. His mother, who resides at Ocean Springs, left early last fall to visit a relative in California, and nothing she was leaving her collection of geraniums in the ground with no one to bestow care, he potted each plant and transported them to Bay St. Louis for safekeeping and care.

MISS ZIBILICH'S "SHADES OF BLUE" ORCHESTRA IS THE DANCE SENSATION.

The return of members of the "Shades of Blue" dance Orchestra to Uncle Charlie's Night Club Saturday evening was a signal for a warm welcome and general ovation. This aggregation of young ladies make good on every occasion and their services are in constant demand. Patrons of Uncle Charlie's are fond of this music and this is best evidenced by the liberal attendance when it is announced "Shades of Blue" will discourse music for the evening.

This orchestra of New Orleans, was organized by Miss Loraine Zibilich, musician, and associates, who play music because of their ability and for the love of their art. They have an extensive repertoire and play all the latest dance numbers and topical song hits.

Miss Zibilich is the accomplished daughter of Mr. Paul Zibilich, well-known New Orleans business man and prominent citizen as well and whose family members are socially prominent in the big city.

"Shades of Blue" are always given on the glad hand and warm welcome on occasion of their visit to the Bay City and it is planned to have the orchestra return at no distant date this summer.

ARBOR VITAE PLANTS ADORN ENTRANCE TO MARTIN'S MODERN BAR.

Not to allow the beautiful interior to outvie the exterior of his new place of business Martin's Modern Bar, resort for ladies and gentlemen, Frank Martin has placed two well-grown arbor vitae shrubs in tall tubs at the entrance to his place—one on each side. This simple touch of attention has remarkable effect—a fetching enhancement and is an example how we may beautify our town and places of business as well. The place is attractively painted, decorated with effect, and might be used as a pattern for the long row of business buildings along the beach line that are not any too pretentious, including that owned by the writer. We are glad to learn Mr. Martin's place is meeting with approval, evidenced by a liberal and substantial patronage.

LADIES OF METHODIST CHURCH GIVE SUCCESSFUL CHICKEN-SPAGHETTI SUPPER

One hundred and three chicken-spaghetti suppers were served on Thursday evening of last week by members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Main Street Methodist Church at the new Sunday School building, Second street. A well-selected and balanced menu with chicken-spaghetti as main offering was served and how the ladies managed to give so bountifully a meal, with generous servings, for the price of thirty-five cents remains like an un-revealed secret. The affair had a decidedly social side and was enjoyed from every angle. Ladies and gentlemen from all sections of the city, irrespective of denominational affiliation, attended the benefit. The hope has been expressed that such an event will again be given at no distant date. The unanimous expression was heard, "This is the best spaghetti I ever ate."

BEAUTIFUL AZALEA BUSH IN GARDEN OF THE CAZENEUVE RESIDENCE.

The beautiful azalea bush in the garden of the Cazeneuve residence, Main street, each year attracts widespread attention and passer-bys are always wont to linger and gaze in admiration. This year seems to have been a more successful year for this plant. The blossoms are seemingly larger, more numerous and color of a vibrant shade. It is one of the few azalea bushes of this type and size seen in this city.

It was originally given to the late Mr. Joseph F. Cazeneuve about twenty years ago by his friend, Dr. J. Q. Fountain, who owned it on his premises in Pearlinton, this county, where it grew for quite a number of years prior to that time. Just how old is this particular azalea is not known but its years seem to improve the quantity of blossoms and its beauty seems to increase each season.

Mrs. Kate Conner, residing in Union street, a lover of flowers, also has quite a collection of geraniums and just now she is enjoying the beauty of her plants of many blossoms and the reward for her care and fondness for the beautiful. Many potted geraniums find lodgment on her front porch and passerbys enjoy the collection of many colors. Mrs. Conner grows flowers the year round and is one of the successful floriculturists of the community. Her present collection of blooming iris is noteworthy and attracts admiration of all flower lovers.

MRS. O. T. ARNOLD'S GARDEN HAS MANY AND VARIED ATTRACTIONS.

At this time of the year a beautiful sight is out on Dunbar avenue at the home of Mrs. O. T. Arnold, the front lawn. With the orange trees in blossom, the wild Jessamine flowers in full bloom in the back of the house and also the Wild Red Fire-cracker flower, and the large beautiful wild Dogwood tree with its big white flowers. On the front lawn, Mrs. Arnold has a large beautiful trailing Wisteria vine winding its way up into and through the big live oak. There is also along the front walk way on either side as you enter the gate very pretty deep red and white roses and around the yard here and there are some pretty red lilies and also the white.

A FORTHCOMING MOVIE ATTRACTION OF PAR EXCELLENCE NEXT WEEK.

It has long been recognized our local A. & G. movie theater, of which the town is justly proud, presents nothing but the best and never omitting the current features, and always at the same regular prices. Recent presentations well prove this.

A film of next week, "The Little Colonel," featuring the adorable child-actress, Shirley Temple, will justly draw great crowds and surely no one will wish to miss it. The picture is an adaptation from the book by that name. Shirley is quite versatile in this picture. She somewhat takes an entirely different part and her dancing is new and wins general plaudits. Lionel Barrymore as the grandfather is again at his best. The last part of the film is done in technicolor and shows Shirley not only in resplendent color but in the fullest of her child-like loveliness. You will want to see Shirley again, this time in her latest and possibly in her best.

Mrs. W. J. Kidd entertained the Thursday afternoon bridge club at her home in Carroll avenue Thursday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Weeks entertained the Wednesday Night Bridge Club at their home this week. Mrs. C. J. Chadwick was hostess to the Tuesday Evening Contract foursome and Mrs. George
